National Vaccination Week

National Vaccination Week is being held in Switzerland from 8 November to 14 November 2021.

What is National Vaccination Week?

For one whole week, information about vaccinations will be provided throughout Switzerland. The Federal Council asks that people in Switzerland get vaccinated against the coronavirus.

The motto of the National Vaccination Week is “Pulling out of the pandemic together”.

The cantons and the municipalities are also providing information about National Vaccination Week. There are also newspaper and radio reports about National Vaccination Week.

Why is National Vaccination Week taking place?

Many people in Switzerland are still not vaccinated. The aim of National Vaccination Week is to change this.

At the end of National Vaccination Week,

- people should be well informed about the vaccines available.
- as many people as possible should be vaccinated.

Why is vaccination important?

The vaccine protects people from being infected with the coronavirus. If a lot of people get vaccinated, this will help to slow down the coronavirus from spreading.

Everyone that has been vaccinated is helping us to return to normal life.
Events and concerts

Events will be held at many locations during National Vaccination Week. Everyone can attend these events to receive information and advice. You can also get vaccinated at these events.

Concerts are being held in 5 Swiss cities. Popular musicians will play at these concerts. For example, the singer Stefanie Heinzmann, the rapper Stress and many more.

Admission to the concerts is free. 500 people can attend each concert. The people in the audience can also receive information about vaccination at the concert venues.
